THE STORY

It all began with grandfather, Antonio, a vineyard expert and great enthusiast. In the '70s, our father, Armando, continued by purchasing and equipping thirty hectares of fertile land in the "Grave di Papadopoli" area, while "supporting" the vineyards with concrete poles throughout most of our peninsula. His sons Alan (winemaker) & William (accountant) followed suit, setting up the splendid Santomè wine farm, purchased in 1999. From February 2010, a further three hectares were incorporated, adjacent to the village of Collalto, in the heart of the designated Prosecco di Conegliano-Valdobbiadine DOCG zone. Altogether there are 75 hectares of vineyards and wine is made and sold in the new premises in Biancade (Treviso).
